DETAILED ACTION

Information Disclosure Statement

1. The information disclosure statement filed on 07 August 2006 has been considered for this Office Action.

Claim Objections

2. Claims 2 and 4 are objected to because of the following informalities:
 - Claim 2 recites the limitation "the state" in the second line. There is insufficient antecedent basis for this limitation in the claim.
 - Claim 4 recites the limitation "the fold itself being disposed at an acute angle with respect to the back or at each limb vertex". The limitation ""or at each vertex" render the claim indefinite because it is unclear how a vertex which is a point can form an acute angle.

Correction is required.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

3. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

Art Unit: 3677

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

4. Claims 2, 4, 6 and 7 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Senna (US 658,965).

A clip comprises two limbs (2,3) and a pre-tensioned back (4) configured to apply a force to the limbs. The clip is configured to be U-shaped with the two limbs parallel to each other in a relaxed state (Fig. 3). Each limb includes a small fold (7,8) of less than 90 degrees. The fold itself being disposed at an acute angle with respect to the back (Figs. 3 and 4). The clip is configured so that sheets can be clamped between the limbs by virtue of the force applied to the pre-tensioned back (Fig. 4). The clip comprises metal or high-strength plastic or wood or compressed cellulose (lines 34-39).

Each limb is triangular, trapezoidal, semicircular or semielliptical (Fig. 1 and 2).

The sheets may be clamped between the limbs by virtue of the force applied by the pre-tensioned back in combination with projections incorporated into the limbs (Fig. 4).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

5. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

6. Claims 2, 3 and 5 rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Senna in view of Burleigh et al. (US 2,310,835).

Senna discloses clip having all the features mentioned above for the rejection of claim 4. Both limbs are arranged on top of each other and parallel to each other in the relaxed state of the clip (Figs. 3). Senna fails to disclose that the both limbs are arranged on top of each other and parallel to each other in a state with a clamped stack of sheets by means of a spring. However, Burleigh teaches a clip comprises two limbs (4) and a pre-tensioned back (1) configured to apply a force to the limbs. The clip is configured to be U-shaped with the two limbs parallel to each other in a relaxed state (Fig. 1). Each limb includes a small fold (Figs. 1 and 2). The clip is configured so that sheets can be clamped between the limbs by virtue of the force applied to the pre-tensioned back (Figs. 1 and 2). The clip comprises metal or high-strength plastic or wood or compressed cellulose (Figs. 1 and 2). The spring allows the limbs to be parallel to each other at all times while providing a firm grip in the sheets (Page 2, column 1, lines 13-25). Therefore, it would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to both limbs are arranged on top of each other and parallel to each other in a state with a clamped stack of sheets by means of a spring as taught by Burleigh in the clip disclosed by Senna. Doing so, allows the limbs to be parallel to each other at all times while providing a firm grip in the sheets.

Burleigh also teaches that clip is made to be multipart with both limbs being connected by a spring (1). When the combination of Senna and Burleigh is taken into consideration the limbs will not have mutual contact because the folds of Senna will prevent mutual contact between the limbs.

The clip taught by Burleight is made to be multipart (Figs. 1-3).

Response to Arguments

7. Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 2-7 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

Conclusion

Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.

Freedman (US 1,423,520), Challinor (US 2,498,066), Le Roy (US 3,604,425), Mollman (US 3,837,133), Bakanowsky, III (US 5,104,088) and Noguchi et al. (US 5,682,650) are cited to show state of the art with respect to clips having some of the features being claimed by the current application.
